Hearing the Dharma for oneself

Reverend Jundo Gregory Gibbs

February is a busy month for most of us. I hope we will find time this month to reflect occasionally on persons, institutions and events in our lives that we are thankful for. In the winter I am thankful for the furnace in our home. As long as I pay for the oil it just keeps running and keeps us warm. It doesn't seem to ever need service and I take it for granted except for times when it is very cold.

Last month I had a number of reasons to be appreciative. Our services were well attended. Our New Years party was well attended. At that event I received surprise congratulations for completing ten years as the Resident Minister (Jushoku) at OBT. I am appreciative of the board for remembering and for presenting me with a monetary gift. I appreciate Yoshi Ono, our current temple president, for getting a cake for me that day. It was delicious and it was an honor to be presented with it.

I appreciate people attending the Ho On Ko seminar built around the themes of my book, "Becoming Buddhist, Becoming Buddhas, Liberating All Beings. That event was on January 14th and was well-attended. I appreciate the attendance of long-time temple members as well as members who've only been with us for a year or two. The two groups brought different concerns and questions. We also had a few friends from other local Buddhist groups who we only see at the Ho On Ko seminar and the nembutsu retreat. They brought yet another type of concern to the discussion. One of our long-time members was especially helpful in guiding the discussion with incisive questions. It was a very nice day for me, even though it finished with having to say goodbye to our temple member and friend Jim Takashima at his funeral here the same evening.

I will be off in Spokane with some of you for the Northwest District Convention this month. I realize that not everyone can attend that convention. Our Minister's Assistants will hold a service at OBT for those of you not able to go with us. I am sure that both those who go and those who stay, but attend the Sunday service, will have a meaningful experience on President's Day weekend.

Next month will bring warmer weather, but it will also bring the Spring Food Bazaar and all the effort that it will involve. Such volunteer work that we rely on of our members keeps this temple going. The Oregon Buddhist Temple is in its 109th year. OBT seems like my furnace at home. It just keeps running along and providing a warm, safe environment for my family and me. For all of us I wish to thank each of you for your participation in the life of our temple.

Gassho, Reverend Gibbs

President's message

Yoshi Ono, OBT president

The start of 2012 was quite busy for all us with Shusho-E (New Year's Day) service, our New Year Luncheon honoring our elder members, Rev. Gibbs' 10 yr anniversary at OBT, the Ho-On-Ko seminar and service, which also included the installation of 2012 temple officers. I want to thank everyone who attended or helped in any way. It takes the efforts of many to keep our temple vibrant and upbeat. February looks like it will continue to be busy with our general membership meeting on the 5th and the district convention. I realize the trip to Spokane for this year's convention is a long trip but I'm looking forward to it since I've never been near the eastern border of Washington. There may still be time to sign up and we can certainly accommodate more folks on the bus.

The general membership meeting is our once a year report on the state of the temple, including our financial status, the new budget, and reports from Dharma School, OBWA, our Minister, to name a few. There were a few changes proposed to our bylaws which we will clarify and update but we are counting on our membership to be there to vote on any changes. So I hope to see you at the service and meeting on February 5th. In the meantime, please stay warm and keep connected to your temple.

OBT Board meeting update

Angie Hughes, OBT Secretary

Happy New Year from the OBT Board! At the January 13th meeting, appreciation was expressed to all who helped make the New Year's Luncheon a success and to those who helped celebrate and acknowledge Reverend Gibbs' tenure here at the temple. Amy Long is working diligently on creating a more streamlined Toban, with emphasis on overall organization of volunteers and supplies. A good portion of the evening was spent discussing the Endowment Fund and how we might move forward on suggested improvements for the temple's interior and exterior spaces. Socho Ogui's upcoming retirement was discussed how we might recognize this milestone. The meeting lasted 3 ½ hours, with Board President Yoshi Ono presiding. Many thanks were offered to Ken Garner for his wonderful year of service as President in 2011.

What OBT means to us

Angie Hughes, OBT board member

Ryan, Avery, and I started coming to OBT in 2007 after visiting for Obon in August. We had been looking for a place where we felt like we could be part of a community and have the chance to get involved. After spending several years in Japan, a Buddhist temple seemed like a good fit for us. Since that August, we have learned so much and have really been made to feel a part of things here at OBT.

Being on the Board, helping with Spring Bazaar and Obon, and watching our son participate in many fun activities have been just some of the benefits we have enjoyed since joining the temple. Feeling that sense of community is so important to us and really satisfies our need to interact, connect, and be part of a collective that strives as a whole, and individually, to find inner-peace.

We have sustained two losses in our family since joining and the kind and thoughtful words of Reverend Gibbs and other friends at the temple have also been a great comfort to us, letting us know that in addition to having this be a place where we can grow and learn, it is a refuge for sharing our losses as well. As we grow older, we realize how important a function this is in maintaining our well being. We have learned many excellent lessons here at the temple, which have helped us to come to terms with our own losses and this ever-present aspect of life.

We look forward to growing with the temple and continuing to make strong connections with each and every one of you. It is our hope that as Avery grows, he will put the time and energy into the temple that will help it to thrive. We believe that teaching our children to value and appreciate this community is one of the most important things we can do to ensure a productive future for OBT. It is their energy and enthusiasm that will allow our temple to flourish.

100th anniversary project – preliminary investigation

Carol Saiget OBT board member,

In the fall of 2003 we celebrated the 100th Anniversary of the OBT. At that time, we sponsored a major fundraising campaign that resulted in several improvements to our facility as identified in a "master plan". The scope of the project was defined by the immediate needs and available funding. Security related improvements (update lobby, elevator roof, back entry) were included in the master plan and identified as the next phase of the anniversary project. In recent years, some of the same security related issues have surfaced. Since the anniversary, all anniversary funds have remained in a separate temple account which would likely cover all or much of a security related project.

As a preliminary step, we want to define and prioritize our temple's current security related needs in order to define the scope of a future project. All members are invited to complete a quick survey and provide any additional input and ideas in this formative stage. Please contact Carol Saiget in the next few weeks; she will send you a survey (kongsfam@comcast.net or 360-834-7806). A final proposal will be presented to the OBT board.

New Year's luncheon celebration

Ann Shintani

Thank you to all who came to our New Year's party on January 8, 2012. Honored elders were welcomed to service with corsages and small gifts, and students were given a specially wrapped dollar coin, provided by Nancy Kajitsu, OBWA, and Kay Inoue. The tables were beautifully decorated with colorful scenes of playful paper dragons, thanks to Maho Garner and Dharma School. The bento lunches were deliciously prepared with traditional Japanese New Years' dishes, arranged by Katie Tamayasu and Yasuko Fields. Ken, Maho, and Mayu Garner, and Kyoko and Ren Gibbs entertained all with the sweet sounds of ukulele and their voices as they sang New Year songs in Japanese. Our honored elders were treated with a free bento lunch, and matsutake gohan (mushroom rice) made by Amy Peterson. Thank you to Dharma School teachers who provided additional refreshments for those who did not buy a bento. Yoshi Ono surprised Reverend and family with a beautiful cake and flowers, courtesy of OBT members, to commemorate their ten years of OBT service. We remember when Sho Gibbs was just 3 when his family arrived in Portland. We are fortunate to have such devoted family as part of the temple. It was a nice gathering, and thank you to those who helped our honored elders by enabling them to either join us in person, or by delivering their bentos to their home.

Dharma school news

Ann Shintani

Thank you to all who helped decorate the tables for the New Years party, especially Maho Garner with her beautiful dragon displays. We hope to find other talented volunteers to share their skills at our next "Open Classroom" on Sunday, April 1 after service. We are seeking volunteers and ideas for all-ages sessions (about 15 minutes). We typically have some cooking, craft, informational, or other active motion classes in lieu of Dharma Exchange and Dharma School. Please contact Amy Peterson for suggestions and to volunteer.

The older classes (Prajna and/or Sangha) will chair regular service on Feb. 12, when we observe Nirvana Day and Pet Memorial (photos or drawings of deceased pets may be brought for display during service). Our next Children's Service (10am in the Annex), is Sunday, Feb. 26. There will be no Dharma School on Feb. 19, as most teachers will be at the Spokane convention. Dharma School is seeking volunteers and donations for the March 4 Spring Bazaar Snack Bar, such as baked item recipes (and we only want the ones that are proven to be good sellers, and easy to make!), donations of ingredients, and parent and student volunteers to bake on Saturday, Mar. 3 (6:30pm in the temple kitchen), and to prep and sell items on Sunday, Mar. 4. We are also accepting donations of purchased snacks. Please contact Ann Shintani about the Snack Bar.

More Dharma school

June Shiigi

Thank you to organizers and helpers BeeBee Tan-Beck, Karol Kennedy, Kyoko Gibbs, Marilyn Achterman, Yasuko Fields, June Shiigi and BeeBee's friends Jamie Lodwig and Pui Sparks who made Valentine Cards to be sent to cheer up the children and adults who survived the 3-11 earthquake and tsunami in Japan. Many of the survivors are still living in shelters. Our Dharma School sponsored this project and BeeBee Tan-Beck, Karol Kennedy, Kyoko Gibbs and the Oregon Buddhist Temple donated card making supplies. Thank you to Karol Kennedy for letting us know about Rie Nakata's e-mail describing ways to cheer up children and people in regions affected by the devastation in Japan. Rie said the cards "will not build new houses or jobs there, but they create uplifting moments for everyone who receives encouraging words to keep their spirit going." Rie also mentioned that these Valentine cards will remind the survivors that they are not alone. She will make arrangements to send the cards to Japan.

NW Buddhist Convention update

February 17-19, 2012

Ann Shintani

Spokane Buddhist Temple has extended their “early registration” deadline for the annual Northwest District Convention in Spokane Washington, Feb. 17-19, 2012 to JANUARY 31, 2012. There are 28 of your fellow OBT members registered, so please help us support the convention and join us! The theme is “Under Amida’s Umbrella of Compassion”. Registration is $115 ($50 for banquet only). Call Ann Shintani for more information. Everyone must make their own hotel reservations directly with the Davenport Hotel or Davenport Towers (1-800-899-1482, spaces may be limited). The bus rate is a low $30 per adult, $15 per minor (<18 yrs old) for the bus ride round trip. The temple will cover the rest including tip, parking, driver accommodations.). Please make checks payable to Oregon Buddhist Temple.

Spokane has invited each temple to provide up to 3 items (or baskets) for a silent auction event to take place Saturday and Sunday at the convention. All proceeds from our items will be returned to our temple. These auctions have been popular in the past, and a great fundraising option for us. Tammy Herald and Cathy Shikatani will be donating some of their handcrafted items.

Please contact Ann Shintani right away at ann@hoonko.com or 503-753-1813 should you be interested in registering, the silent auction, or have other questions. The registration forms say to mail and write checks payable to Spokane, but please submit them to me and make checks payable to Oregon Buddhist Temple, and I will ensure that registration is correct.

OBT's material and supplies procurement process

Amy Peterson, OBT Board member

As things at the Temple get more organized, refreshed and renewed we are taking an inventory of supplies we have and are adding this inventory responsibility to those of our procurement person; Ray Fields. In doing so, we need help from Temple members old and new. Please inform Ray of the following:

- 1) If you have suggestions on items that need purchasing on an ongoing basis,
- 2) If you have suggestions for preferred vendors for items,
- 3) If you have suggestions for minimum stock levels before reordering,
- 4) If you have been ordering something, especially for a major event,

Please let Ray know or drop a note for him with Rev. Gibbs. We will be setting up a box somewhere for this purpose in the near future. For now just print ATTENTION PROCUREMENT and the information.

Girl Scout cookies

Amy Peterson

If you ordered cookies from our Temple Girl Scout troop they will be delivered in Mid February. We hope to have them the weekend before convention. If you didn't get a chance to order cookies during the presale or need more cookies, we'll have them available for purchase at that time as well. Just let one of the Girl Scouts, Amy Peterson, or Elaine Yuzuriha know.

Donations are always welcome if you can't eat them and would still like to support the troop. We also have a program where cookies are purchased and donated to the troop's charity of choice which this year is the Yolanda House, a YWCA program for women escaping domestic violence. This is the same program the OBWA has adopted for their clothing and materials drive.
